PRESEASON PUB

- Coined one of the deepest teams in the country, Florida earned a slew of preseason recognition.
- UF was selected No. 4 by the GCAA Coach's Poll & Golf Channel while No. 5 by Golfweek.
- Additionally, three Gators collected Preseason All-America honors via Luke Poulter (Golf Channel and Golfweek Second Team), Jack Turner (Golf Channel and Golfweek Third Team) and Zack Swanwick (Golf Channel Third Team). Poulter also was named to The Haskins Award Preseason Watch List entering the 2025-26 season.
- Senior and last member of the 2023 National Championship lineup, Matthew Kress began the season at No. 23 in the PGA TOUR U Preseason Rankings, and is currently ranked No. 22.

THIS YEAR'S GATORS, ACCORDING TO MR. ROMINE

- For the second straight season, head coach J.C. Deacon arguably has the deepest squad in the country. Last spring, that depth resulted in an NCAA semifinals appearance to cap a season that featured five wins, including an SEC title and NCAA regional crown.
- While this year's squad might be even deeper (nine guys qualified for the U.S. Amateur), there is a lack of a clear superstar following the departure of Gilligan to the pros. Luke Poulter and Jack Turner are the most likely No. 1's. Poulter missed seven months with a stress fracture in his back last year, but returned in a big way in January and now will represent GB&I in the Walker Cup. Turner ascended to No. 10 in WAGR after six top-10s last season, though he's cooled this summer.
- Zack Swanwick should be on everyone's radar as a potential breakout candidate after reaching the semifinals of the Western this summer; the key for him will be to improve around and on the greens. "Ball-striking-wise, man, I don't ever want to say anyone is the best, but he's close to one of the best in college golf," Deacon said of the Kiwi.
- Matthew Kress got off to a rough start last fall, but he rallied with five top-10s in the spring, including a runner-up at regionals a T-9 at La Costa.
- Everyone on the roster should play some, though let's tab Josh Bai, who was supposed to enroll last January, and Kent, last year's U.S. Amateur runner-up who transferred from Iowa last spring, as two to keep an eye on. Kent, in particular, has a massive ceiling thanks to insane speed and great touch; he could flourish with further tutelage under Deacon and assistant Dudley Hart.

EXPERIENCED LINEUP

- Florida returns 4-of-5 from last year's starting lineup which included a NCAA National Championship Semifinalist appearance, NCAA Regional Title, SEC Championship and five total tournament wins.
- A pair of underclassmen last year in Luke Poulter and Zack Swanwick made their postseason debuts last year and both went 3-0 in match play at the SEC Championship.
- Poulter was named an All-American by both GCAA and Golfweek while he earned All-Region honors en route to his first collegiate win at the Schenkel Invitational and placed T4 at the NCAA Bremerton Regional.
- The true freshman, Swanwick was a member of All-SEC Freshman Team and won a crucial point in Florida's victory over Texas in the NCAA Championship Quarterfinals. He also carded back-to-back rounds of 68 (-2) for a T22 outing at the SEC Championship.
- A rising junior and four-time All-American already, Jack Turner enters his third season at UF. He continued momentum from a breakout freshman season that featured a spot on the GCAA All-Freshman Team and had a team-best six top-10s and eight top-25s.
- Turner won the match-clinching point in the SEC Championship Semifinals against the No. 1 player in college golf and back-to-back SEC Individual Champion, Jackson Koivun of Auburn, the reigning SEC and NCAA Champions.
- The lone member of the 2023 NCAA Championship Team, 5th-year Senior Matthew Kress looks to carry his postseason season success into his final lap.
- Kress finished T9 (-3) at the NCAA National Championship to earn All-American status and on the NCAA All-Tournament Team as he holed out for eagle on the 18th hole in the final round of stroke play for three straight rounds of under par: 71-69-70.
- He collected two important points in postseason match play in a 5&4 victory in the SEC Championship Finals and 3&1 win in the NCAA Championship Quarterfinals.
- Finally, UF's postseason alternate for all three tournaments, Parker Sands enters his second season.

LAST TIME OUT

- The Florida won the Williams Cup finishing 15-under and by 12-shots with Luke Poulter and Zack Swanwick finishing T3 at Eagle Point Golf Club
- The Gators went wire-to-wire and were one of two teams (Texas, -3) to finish under par through 54-holes as UF beat six top-25 teams.
- The victory is the 33rd tournament title all-time under head coach J.C. Deacon
- Five Gators placed in the top-17 led by Poulter and Swanwick, who finished with a 54-hole score of 211 (-5). The finish and tournament score were career-bests for the sophomore Swanwick. In three fall events, Poulter was two top-9 finishes.
- Senior Parker Bell had the next best finish by a Gator in a tie for 12th at +1. Across the last two tournaments he has finished T8 and T12.
- Both Matthew Kress and Trevor Gutschewski each tied for 17th.
- Jack Turner (+5) rounded out the lineup in T27, only his fifth finish outside the top-25 in 24 career stoke play tournaments.

NEW GATORS

- The Orange and Blue welcomed three new Gators this season in Josh Bai (Auckland, New Zealand) who finished runner-up at the 2023 United States Junior Amateur Championship, Trevor Gutschewski (Omaha, Neb.) the 2025 Western Junior and 2024 United States Junior Amateur Champion and Parker Severs (Lakewood Ranch, Fla) the 2024 Florida State Golf Association Four-Ball Champion.
- Also after joining Florida last spring, Iowa transfer Noah Kent is eligible this season to compete after playing in the 2025 U.S. Open and The Masters. The junior added two PGA TOUR events under his belt at the Texas Children's Houston Open and CJ Cup by Bryon Nelson.

LA COSTA LOOKBACK

- The Gators earned a spot in match play at nationals for the second time in three seasons and defeated No. 6 Texas 3-2 in the quarterfinals after rallying down 2-0 and winning the final three matches. It was Florida's fourth win in championship match play.
- In the final round of stroke play at the national championship, Florida tied for the lowest-round (-8) of the day and second-lowest of the tournament with top-seeded Arizona State (-14). The final round produced a 72-hole score of 9-under 1143, its lowest score by par at the National Championships since 26-under in 2001, when Florida won the team title.
- The last time UF shot 9-under in a round at nationals was round four in 2006.
- Both Matthew Kress (T9, -3) and Gilligan (T13, -2) each earned NCAA All-Tournament Team and All-American status with their performances.
- UF earned a spot in the final round of stroke play for the seventh time in program history for the fourth consecutive season and fifth time under head coach J.C. Deacon since the match play era that began 2009.

REGIONAL REWIND IN BREMERTON

- At the NCAA Bremerton Regional, Florida won its seventh regional title in program history and second under head coach J.C. Deacon.
- The Gators finished 28 strokes ahead of the top-5 cut and won by three shots over No. 1-seed Arizona State
- Florida had a final round of 3-under 285 for a 54-hole score of 28-under 836 after a 16-under round two, which was the sixth lowest round by par and lowest at a regional since a 17-under final round in 2018.
- The final tournament score by par of 28-under is tied for eighth lowest all-time and third-lowest at an NCAA Regional in program history.
- Florida's 28-under par was the third-lowest in regional play this year - Auburn 32-under and Florida State 29-under, who both played on their home course.

SEA ISLAND RECAP

- Florida men's golf team got back on top of the Southeastern Conference, defeating Texas A&M 4-1 in the conference finals for the program's 17th SEC Championship last season.
- Head Coach J.C. Deacon led the Gators to its second SEC Title in the last three seasons and 17th in program history, No. 2 among all league men's golf programs.
- The Gators won its 10th match play outing in the SEC Championship, ranking second-most in the conference behind Vanderbilt's 13. In postseason match play, Florida is 12-4 all-time and 9-4 in the SEC.
- Florida reached SEC Match Play Finals for the third time overall and in the last four years (2022 & 2023) by defeating the No. 6 ranked Oklahoma Sooners 3-2 in the quarterfinals and the No. 1 seed, No. 2 ranked and the reigning SEC and National Champion Auburn Tigers, 3.5-1.5 in the semifinals yesterday.
- In stroke play, Florida carded the second-lowest round in the final round with Auburn at 10-under 270 as the Gators finished with a final 54-hole score of 16-under 824.
- The 824 score is the program's lowest all-time score at the SEC Championship in the current stroke play format, which began in 1979 in four count five as the previous record was 828 set in 2006 and 2022.
- The Gator Golf programs have both reached the finals twice in the last four seasons. Florida is the only league school to have both its programs reach the finals two-plus times and do it in the same season, this year.

OTHER GATOR BITES

- Freshman Trevor Gutschewski won the 2025 Western Junior to mark back-to-back seasons a Gator won - Parker Sands (2024). As the season prior UF earned a sweep at the Western with Ian Gilligan winning the amateur side.

JC DEACON

Head Coach - 12th Season

Entering his 12th season as head coach of the Florida Gators in 2025-26, J.C. Deacon looks to expand on the success of his first ten seasons with the Orange and Blue.

Deacon's Gators continued their success once again in the 2024-25 campaign and was named the Southeast Region Coach of the Year as Florida was both a National Championship Semifinalist and SEC Champions, all for the second time in three seasons. UF also won the NCAA Bremerton Regional to conclude a five win campaign along with a pair of medalist honors from Ian Gilligan (6th collegiate win) and Luke Poulter (first collegiate win).

Florida won two of the three postseason tournaments (SEC Championship & NCAA Regional) as the last time UF won both a team conference and regional title in the same season was 2011. It was also the fourth time both have been done in a season in program history - 1989 & 1992.

The victory at the regional was second under Deacon with the first being in 2018 for a total five team titles this season. It also marked the 32nd tournament title under him in 11 seasons. This was the third straight season of four-plus wins under Deacon and the seventh season of multiple wins, including the last five consecutive.

In the last four years, Florida has won the NCAA National Team Championship, NCAA Individual Championship, four NCAA Championships appearances, two NCAA Championship Semifinal Appearances, NCAA Regional Team Championship, two SEC Team Championships, three SEC Final Appearances, SEC Individual Championship, 19 tournament titles and 13 individual titles.

In the final round of stroke play at the national championship, Florida tied for the lowest-round (-8) of the day and second-lowest of the tournament with top-seeded Arizona State (-14). The final round produced a 72-hole score of 9-under 1143, its lowest score by par at the National Championships since 26-under in 2001, when Florida won the team title. The last time UF shot 9-under in a round at nationals was round four in 2006. Both Matthew Kress (T9, -3) and Gilligan (T13, -2) each earned NCAA All-Tournament Team and All-American status with their performances.

The Gators earned a spot in match play at nationals for the second time in three seasons and defeated No. 6 Texas 3-2 in the quarterfinals after rallying down 2-0 and winning the final three matches. It was Florida's fourth win in championship match play.

Florida reached SEC Match Play Finals for the third time overall and in the last four years (2022 & 2023) by defeating the No. 6 ranked Oklahoma Sooners 3-2 in the quarterfinals and the No. 1 seed, No. 2 ranked and the reigning SEC and National Champion Auburn Tigers, 3.5-1.5 in the semifinals. The Gators defeated Texas A&M 4-1 in the finals for the program's 17th conference title, ranking No. 2 among men's golf programs. It was also the 10th match play win in the SEC Championship, ranking second-most in the conference behind Vanderbilt's 13.

At the NCAA Bremerton Regional, Florida had a final round of 3-under 285 for a 54-hole score of 28-under 836 after a 16-under round two, which was the sixth lowest round by par and lowest at a regional since a 17-under final round in 2018. The final tournament score by par of 28-under is tied for eighth lowest all-time and third-lowest at an NCAA Regional in program history. Florida's 28-under par was the third-lowest in regional play this year - Auburn 32-under and Florida State 29-under, who both played on their home course.

Defending home turf for the sixth consecutive year, UF swept the 48th Gators Invitational behind Gilligan's sixth collegiate win, including defeating National Champion Oklahoma State. The victory was the 31st overall and 16th sweep (team and individual title) at the home tournament as Florida had an all-underclassmen lineup competing.

The second individual title was captured by redshirt-sophomore Luke Poulter at the Schenkel Invitational. He led all three rounds and became the sixth Gator to win the tournament, joining Andy Bean, Matt Every, Phil Hancock, Steve Scott and Bank Vongvanij.

Heading into postseason play, the Orange and Blue defended its team title at the Calusa Cup behind a final round of 17-under, tied for third all-time in program history by par. The win marked the third consecutive year UF has won the final regular season event (2024 Calusa Cup & 2023 Augusta Hakskins Award Invite). The final round of 271 tied the lowest round by score this season as the -17 was the season-low score by par in a round. Also the final team score of 17-under also set a new tournament record for the Calusa Cup.

Following Florida's SEC and National Championship titles, the Gators featured a new look lineup while three First-Team All-Americans - Fred Biondi (NCAA Individual Champion), Ricky Castillo and Yuxin Lin - all departed. Returning from the championship teams was John DuBois and Matthew Kress.

After a shaky fall, the Gators responded with five wins in the spring to total six on the season. Florida recorded consecutive seasons with six wins for the first time since 1973-74 and 1974-75. UF ended the spring portion of the season with five tournament wins and a 4th place finish at the Southern Highlands Collegiate, that featured Ian Gilligan winning medalist honors and earning an exemption into the PGA Tour's 2024 Shriners Open in October.

The Orange and Blue have now claimed 27 team titles under head coach J.C. Deacon in 10 seasons. It marked the seventh season under Deacon UF has won multiple tournaments in a year and fourth of three-plus. Six tournament wins in a season is tied for the most under Deacon, which came last season and included an SEC and National Championship.

The new look Gators left their mark in the postseason. At the SEC Championship, UF was led by true freshman Jack Turner, who posted a team-best T2 finish in his first conference tournament start. The performance ties the second-best finish by a Gator true freshman at the SEC Championship with Camilo Villegas, who placed T2 in 2001. Vanderbilt and Florida meet for the third straight season in match play at SECs with the Commodores edging out the Gators 3-2 in extra holes in the quarterfinals.

Moving to NCAA Regional play in West Lafayette, Florida entered round three in the final advancing spot by four-shot. The Gators shot a final round of 2-under to take 3rd and make the cut by 12 strokes. Through the first hour-and-half in the final rounds, teams battled rainy and cold conditions. Florida put together great start and setup for success when the rain stopped, with a combined 1-under on the first hole (#10) and was even-par on counting scores through the first five holes in the rain. Florida made a charge in the final nine holes after finding itself 1-over at the turn and only a four-shot advantage over Indiana, who had just teed off its round its. The Florida separation began with a trio of birdies from Parker Bell, John DuBois and Ian Gilligan. Then Jack Turner put the Hoosiers and Mississippi State's comeback efforts out of reach with a birdie on six to go up by 10 shots and into fourth place.

At the NCAA National Championship, Florida concluded with an 11th-place finish and battled for back-to-back match play appearances. An important 1-under 287 third round helped advance Florida to the final round of stroke play for the third consecutive season. The Gators started the day in eighth, and in the final match-play spot with a one-shot advantage. The Orange and Blue continued its streak of five straight top-11 finishes after winning the national title - 1974: 2nd, 1994: 3rd, 1969: T5 and 2002: T11.

2022-23 that led to the program's fifth National Championship and 16th SEC Championship. Both were first for Deacon as he capped off the season being named Division I Dave Williams National Coach of the Year, a career first and only the second Gator head coach to receive the honor and third overall in program history and first since 2004 when Buddy Alexander received the recognition. He was also tabbed the SEC Coach of the Year.

Florida captured a national title for the first time in 22 years last week as the Gators swept NCAAs with Fred Biondi winning the NCAA Individual Championship. It was the third UF golfer (Nick Gilliam 2001, Bob Murphy 1966) to achieve the honor and second time in 30 years the program swept both titles. Florida is one of seven schools to achieve the mark twice.

In nine seasons, Florida has won 21 total events and medalist honors under Deacon. The Gators won the NCAA team title, individual title and conference title in the same season for the first time in program history.

UF reached match play at nationals for the first time in program history after Deacon led the Gators to its best finish in the match play era (2009) last year in 10th. Florida played in the fourth round of stroke play for the fifth time in program history and third with Deacon. It was also the second consecutive season to clinch a spot in the final 18.

Florida finished stroke play in 2nd with a score of 1118 (-2), its lowest all-time at Grayhawk and first under par team score at the NCAAs since 2006. The 1,118 was the lowest round score at the National Championships in program history. A final round of 279 (-1) marks the third consecutive under round after back-to-back 2-under 278s in round two and three. The 2-under performance by UF is the best round at the NCAA Championships since the opening round in 2007.

Florida made its 56th NCAA Championship appearance this year, ranking fifth most in the country. The Gators have advanced out of regionals six times under Deacon and the last two years. UF has qualified for regionals every season with Deacon at the helm.

A third round comeback at Bath Regional saw Florida erase a seven shot deficit led by a trio of rounds in the 60s by Yuxin Lin (66, -5), John DuBois (69, -2) and Ricky Castillo (69, -2) to earn a spot at Grayhawk.

In his ninth season, Deacon guided Florida to a SEC Championship Title for the first time in 12 years. The Gators got revenge and defeated No. 1 Vanderbilt 3-1-1 at Sea Island after falling 3-2 in 2022. Senior John DuBois, the 2022 SEC Individual Champion, sank a 15-footer for the match-clinching point.

Florida claimed six team titles and six individual titles this season, the most all-time under Deacon. The six team wins was the most since seven in 2003-04 as it was the sixth time the Gators have won at least six events in a season. The six medalist honors tied the program record in a season and only the third time in Florida history, the others were in 1989-90 and 2010-11.

Prior to the postseason, the Orange and Blue won four regular season tournaments, including the season opener and finale. At the Augusta Haskins Award Invite, Florida finished 39-under par, to tie second all-time in program history by par and only three shots away from the record (-42) set under Deacon at the 2018 NCAA Regional.

At the VyStar Credit Union Gators Invitational, Florida won its home event for the fourth straight year under Deacon and the 29th time overall in the tournament's 46th occurrence.

Deacon saw four golfers (Fred Biondi, Ricky Castillo, John DuBois and Yuxin Lin) all earn PING All-American honors, tied for the most selections by a school this year and tied the Florida record. It was the seventh time the Gators had four selections with the last time being in 2006. Biondi, Castillo, Lin and Quentin Debove were also selected to the PING All-Region Team. The trio of Biondi, Castillo and Lin collected All-SEC honors with Matthew Kress collecting freshman team recognition.

Success was also obtained off the course with Fred Biondi, Quentin Debove and John DuBois being named GCCA All-American Scholars, which marked the third consecutive years with multiple honorees under Deacon and most selections in a single season in program history.

After a bumpy fall in the 2021-22 season, Deacon got the Gators regrouped for a dominant spring. The second half of the season started on a strong note with winning back-to-back tournaments victories at the Sea Best Invitational and the VyStar Gators Invitational. The victory at Sea Best marked the fifth time in the spring opener and third time under Deacon.

At the Gator, Florida won the 45th annual event for the 28th time in program history and third under Deacon. The Gators shot 28-under (812) to win by 12 strokes over No. 3 Oklahoma State. Fred Biondi finished 14-under at 196 to tie the tournament record while he claimed his first collegiate medalist honor. The record was last set by Camilo Benedetti in 2001 as he tied for second in tournament score and tied third all-time in tournament score by par in three rounds. A native of Sao Paulo, Brazil, he set career bests in low round (63), tournament score and finish on the weekend. Biondi became the 16th UF golfer to be the individual champion at the invite as his birdie on 18th concluded the career outing and brought the crowd at Mark Bostick to their feet.

Biondi's first collegiate victory turned into a breakout season as he won his second tournament at the Calusa Cup along with two runner-up finishes, including at the NCAA Palm Beach Regional. He ended his season being named a PING First Team All-American, Haskins Award Finalist, All-SEC First Team, GCCA All-American Scholar, PING All-Region Team and two-time SEC Golfer of the Week.

At the 2022 SEC Championships, another Gator won his first collegiate title with John DuBois being crowned the individual champion. He became the 25th Gator in program history to win the title, the most by any SEC School. He joins the list of names such as Tommy Aaron, Steve Melnyk, Brian Gay, Camilo Benedetti, and volunteer assistant coach Billy Horschel. It marks the third UF golfer to win in the last five tournaments and third under Deacon - Alejandro Tosti (2017) and Andy Zheng (2018).

The Gators advanced to the SEC match play finals for the first time since the format was added in 2017. UF knocked off No. 6 Georgia (3-1-1) in the quarterfinals and No. 2 Texas A&M (3-1-1) in the semifinals. Florida finished runner-up for the 13th time in program history and first since 2010.

UF took care of business at the NCAA Palm Beach Regional with 3rd place performance, advancing to its 55th NCAA Championship and fifth under Deacon, only missing it twice under him. At Grayhawk and the NCAA Championships, Deacon helped rally the Gators late in round three on the back nine to make the top-15 cut. Florida concluded its run only seven strokes from making match play for a 10th place finish, marking the highest under Deacon and best since 2007 - a 9th place outing.

Deacon and the Gators returned to competition in a three-tournament fall schedule that featured SEC only play to combat the ongoing COVID-19 pandemic. Florida touted a new lineup that featured at least three newcomers in each tournament, recording its best finish at the Vanderbilt Legends Collegiate where a 24-under par score put the team in a tie for fourth place. Deacon lit the fire for the Gators heading into the winter hiatus, responding with back-to-back first place finishes in their first two tournaments, including the second straight win at the Gators Invitational.

The Gators qualified for their 54th NCAA Championship in program history after a gutsy final round in the Cle Elum Regional propelled the team into fifth place. Florida would see its season come to an end after three rounds of stroke play at the Championship, with Ricky Castillo qualifying individually for the final day of stroke play and ultimately finishing 12th in the field.

Deacon oversaw an incredible freshman duo in Joe Pagdin and Tyler Wilkes. Pagdin was named the 2021 SEC Freshman of the Year and the pair were both named to the SEC All-Freshman Team. In addition, Ricky Castillo earned a spot on the Second-Team All-SEC. Castillo and Pagdin were both named to the Division I PING All-Region Southeast Team.

Under Deacon, the Gators were trending upwards before the 2019-20 season abruptly ended due to the COVID-19 pandemic. Following a challenging fall campaign, Florida opened the spring with three-straight top-five finishes. Of those finishes, Deacon's squad captured the team title at the VyStar Gators Invitational by an impressive 18 strokes, giving the Gators their first team win at Mark Bostick Golf Course since 2011.

Deacon oversaw the best one-two combination in the nation with junior John Axelsen and freshman Ricky Castillo. Both players received recognition at the national and league level following their outstanding play. Castillo was named the 2020 Phil Mickelson Outstanding Freshman Award honoree and SEC Freshman of the Year. He also earned a spot on the All-SEC First Team, NCAA Division I PING All-America First Team and appeared on the Ben Hogan Award Final Watch List. Alongside Castillo, Axelsen also earned First Team All-American and All-SEC First Team honors.

The Gators ended the 2018-19 season at the NCAA Regional in Pullman, Washington. Florida tallied four top-five finishes and seven top-10 finishes. Their best came at the Florida Gators Invitational where he finished in second place, just one stroke off the winner Vanderbilt. The Gators' arguably-best performance came in the last event of the regular season at the Robert Kepler Invitational, hosted by Ohio State. The Gators finished third with four Gators inside the top 25. Sophomore John Axelsen earned PING All-Region honors at the conclusion of the season.

The 2017-18 season brought another individual conference champion and All-American under Deacon's reign in sophomore Andy Zhang. The Gators notched three titles, five top-5 and eight top-10 finishes throughout the season. They won the NCAA Regional in record-breaking fashion. After sitting at 25-under and five clear of the field entering the final round, Florida was chasing history. The team needed to shoot 12-under-par to tie the record for strokes under par.

The Gators shattered that mark, shooting a final-round 271 (-17), the lowest single round to par in program history. By the end of the tournament, they were 42-under-par to set the new program record by five strokes en route to winning the event by 12 shots. All five Gator players finished 2-under or better in the tournament, the only school in the field to accomplish the feat. Florida won the regional title for the first time since 2011 and fifth time overall.

The Gators advanced to the 54th NCAA Championships in program history and the third time in four seasons the team has made it under Deacon.

During the 2016-17 season, the Gators tallied five team victories, nine top-5 finishes and 11 top-10 finishes en route to earning a national seed in the program's 53rd appearance in the NCAA Tournament. Individually, Florida had four players finish atop the leaderboard including Alejandro Tosti's victory at the SEC Championships. Florida also had nine top-5 finishes and 21 top-10 finishes in 2016-17.

Deacon saw two of his golfers in Sam Horsfield and Tosti garner national honors as the pairing were both named to the Golfweek and PING All-America Teams. Tosti was placed on the Golfweek First Team, PING second team and All-SEC honors. Horsfield garnered honorable mention honors from Golfweek and PING and All-SEC honors. Gordon Neale was also named to the All-SEC team while Andy Zhang made Freshman All-SEC.

During its second season under his guidance, the team notched two victories, nine top-5 finishes and 11 top-10 finishes on its way to the NCAA Championships, the program's 52nd appearance in the event. They improved in every postseason tournament, finishing tied for third at the SEC Championship, tied for second at the NCAA Regional and 15th at the NCAA Championships. Individually, Deacon saw his players capture four victories, four runner ups and 22 top-10 finishes.

Under Deacon's coaching, Sam Horsfield cleaned up the awards season, winning the Phil Mickleson Award and SEC Freshman of the Year while also being named First Team Ping All-America, GCCA All-Freshman Team, PING All-Southeastern Region Team, All Nicklaus Team, and All-SEC. Deacon also saw Gordon Neale be named a Ping All-America Honorable Mention and named to the First-Year SEC Academic Honor Roll, Alejandro Tosti named to the PING All-Southeastern Region Team, and four Gators make the SEC Academic Honor Roll.

In Deacon's first season at the helm, the 2014-15 squad placed fourth at the NCAA Regional Championship en route to qualifying for the NCAA Championships for the 51st time in school history. On the way to the postseason, Florida collected seven top-10 finishes, including four runner-up performances. UF combined for 34 top-25 finishes and 14 top-10 finishes, with three Gators placing in the top five multiple times.

In his initial year with the program, Deacon coached J.D. Tomlinson to spots on the PING Honorable Mention All-America Team, PING All-Southeast Region Team and second team All-SEC and led Alejandro Tosti to a place on the Freshman All-SEC Team. Under his watch, five Gators were named to the SEC Academic Roll, one was selected to the SEC First-Year Academic Honor Roll and two were chosen as Cleveland Golf/Srixon All-America Scholars.

Prior to his head coaching debut, Deacon served as an assistant coach at his alma mater, UNLV. A collegiate player for the Rebels from 2001-05, Deacon joined the UNLV staff in the spring of 2011 and helped the 2013 squad advance to match play at the NCAA Championships, where it tied for fifth. A pair of Rebels, Kevin Penner (2012 & 2013) and Derek Ernst (2012), earned All-America honors on his watch. Five Rebels collected a total of eight spots on the All-Mountain West Men's Golf Team under his guidance, with Ernst winning the 2012 Mountain West Conference individual title and Penner picking up the victory in 2013.

As a student-athlete, Deacon helped UNLV to a Mountain West title in 2002 by tying for second in the individual contest. He competed in the 2002 and 2003 NCAA Championships and was a member of the Golf Coaches Association of America All-American Scholar Team and the Academic All-Mountain West Team in 2004. Deacon graduated from UNLV with a bachelor's degree in communications in 2005 and has returned to the state where he completed high school. Deacon, who attended IMG Academy, graduated from St. Stephen's Episcopal School in Bradenton.

Deacon played professionally on the Gateway Tour and Canadian Tour. He was a U.S. Amateur semifinalist in 2005 before capturing two Minor League Golf Tour Titles in 2007, taking top honors at the Emerald Hills Classic and the Miami Shores Shootout.

Deacon played in 35 events over a three-year span (2008-10) on the Canadian Tour and made 17 cuts. His best finish came at the 2008 Saskatchewan Open, where he shared a spot for fourth place.

Deacon became the Gator men's golf team's 15th head coach when he replaced legendary Gator head coach Buddy Alexander in the summer of 2014.

Deacon and his wife, Jessi, have two daughters, Dylan and Sydney and a son, Ripp. He also has a brother Jeff and sister Gillian. His parents are Jennifer and Cam Deacon.

DUDLEY HART

Associate Head Coach

9th season total - 3rd season as Associate Head Coach / 2 seasons as assistant coach / 4 seasons as volunteer assistant coach*

Prior to the 2023-24 campaign, Head Coach J.C. Deacon announced the promotion of Dudley Hart to Associate Head Coach on Aug. 31, 2023.

In the spring of 2024, Hart enrolled back in classes and completed his degree requirements, earning his bachelor's degree in history.

The Gators continued their success once again in the 2024-25 campaign as Florida was both a National Championship Semifinalist and SEC Champions, all for the second time in three seasons. UF also won the NCAA Bremerton Regional to conclude a five win campaign along with a pair of medalist honors from Ian Gilligan (6th collegiate win) and Luke Poulter (first collegiate win).

Florida won two of the three postseason tournaments (SEC Championship & NCAA Regional) as the last time UF won both a team conference and regional title in the same season was 2011. It was also the fourth time both have been done in a season in program history - 1989 & 1992.

The victory at the regional was the first since 2018 for a total five team titles this season and the third straight season of four-plus victories.

In the final round of stroke play at the national championship, Florida tied for the lowest-round (-8) of the day and second-lowest of the tournament with top-seeded Arizona State (-14). The final round produced a 72-hole score of 9-under 114.3, its lowest score by par at the National Championships since 26-under in 2001, when Florida won the team title. The last time UF shot 9-under in a round at nationals was round four in 2006. Both Matthew Kress (T9, -3) and Gilligan (T15, -2) each earned NCAA All-Tournament Team and All-American status with their performances.

The Gators earned a spot in match play at nationals for the second time in three seasons and defeated No. 6 Texas 3-2 in the quarterfinals after rallying down 2-0 and winning the final three matches. It was Florida's fourth win in championship match play.

Florida reached SEC Match Play Finals for the third time overall and in the last four years (2022 & 2023) by defeating the No. 6 ranked Oklahoma Sooners 3-2 in the quarterfinals and the No. 1 seed, No. 2 ranked and the reigning SEC and National Champion Auburn Tigers, 3.5-1.5 in the semifinals. The Gators defeated Texas A&M 4-1 in the finals for the program's 17th conference title, ranking No. 2 among men's golf programs. It was also the 10th match play win in the SEC Championship, ranking second-most in the conference behind Vanderbilt's 13.

At the NCAA Bremerton Regional, Florida had a final round of 3-under 285 for a 54-hole score of 28-under 836 after a 16-under round two, which was the sixth lowest round by par and lowest at a regional since a 17-under final round in 2018. The final tournament score by par of 28-under is tied for eighth lowest all-time and third-lowest at an NCAA Regional in program history. Florida's 28-under par was the third-lowest in regional play this year - Auburn 32-under and Florida State 29-under, who both played on their home course.

Defending home turf for the sixth consecutive year, UF swept the 48th Gators Invitational behind Gilligan's sixth collegiate win, including defeating National Champion Oklahoma State. The victory was the 31st overall and 16th sweep (team and individual title) at the home tournament as Florida had an all-underclassmen lineup competing.

The second individual title was captured by redshirt-sophomore Luke Poulter at the Schenkel Invitational. He led all three rounds and became the sixth Gator to win the tournament, joining Andy Bean, Matt Evers, Phil Hancock, Steve Scott and Bank Vongvanij.

Heading into postseason play, the Orange and Blue defended its team title at the Calusa Cup behind a final round of 17-under, tied for third all-time in program history by par. The win marked the third consecutive year UF has won the final regular season event (2024 Calusa Cup & 2023 Augusta Haskins Award Invite). The final round of 271 tied the lowest round by score this season as the -17 was the season-low score by par in a round. Also, the final team score of 17-under also set a new tournament record for the Calusa Cup.

Hart was announced as an assistant coach for Team USA at the 2024 Arnold Palmer Cup where Gators Ian Gilligan and Maisie Filler will be apart of his team.

Following Florida's SEC and National Championship titles, the Gators featured a new look lineup while three First-Team All-Americans - Fred Biondi (NCAA Individual Champion), Ricky Castillo and Yuxin Lin - all departed. Returning from the championship teams was John DuBois and Matthew Kress for the 2024-25 season.

After a shaky fall, the Gators responded with five wins in the spring to total six on the season. Florida recorded consecutive seasons with six wins for the first time since 1973-74 and 1974-75. UF ended the spring portion of the season with five tournament wins and a 4th place finish at the Southern Highlands Collegiate, that featured Ian Gilligan winning medalist honors and earning an exemption into the PGA Tour's 2024 Shriners Open in October.

The new look Gators left their mark in the postseason. At the SEC Championship, UF was led by true freshman Jack Turner, who posted a team-best T2 finish in his first conference tournament start. The performance ties the second-best finish by a Gator true freshman at the SEC Championship with Camilo Villegas, who placed T2 in 2001. Vanderbilt and Florida meet for the third straight season in match play at SECs with the Commodores edging out the Gators 3-2 in extra holes in the quarterfinals.

Moving to NCAA Regional play in West Lafayette, Florida entered round three in the final advancing spot by four-shot. The Gators shot a final round of 2-under to take 3rd and make the cut by 12 strokes. Through the first hour-and-half in the final rounds, teams battled rain and cold conditions. Florida put together a great start and setup for success when the rain stopped, with a combined 1-under on the first hole (#10) and was even-par on counting scores through the first five holes in the rain. Florida made a charge in the final nine holes after finding itself 1-over at the turn and only a four-shot advantage over Indiana, who had just teed off its round 1's. The Florida separation began with a trio of birdies from Parker Bell, John DuBois and Ian Gilligan. Then Jack Turner put the Hoosiers and Mississippi State's comeback efforts out of reach with a birdie on six to go up by 10 shots and into fourth place.

At the NCAA National Championship, Florida concluded with an 11th-place finish and battled for back-to-back match play appearances. An important 1-under 287 third round helped advance Florida to the final round of stroke play for the third consecutive season. The Gators started the day in eighth, and in the final match-play spot with a one-shot advantage. The Orange and Blue continued its streak of five straight top-11 finishes after winning the national title - 1974: 2nd, 1994: 3rd, 1969: T5 and 2002: T11.

It was a historic season for Hart and the Gators in 2022-23 that led to the program's fifth National Championship and 16th SEC Championship. He was also named the 2023 Jan Strickland Outstanding Assistant Coach of the Year. Hart is only the second Gator to receive the award in program history, joining John Handrigan in 2015. This marks the first time in program history that Florida has won the national assistant and head coach of the year awards as J.C. Deacon received it for the first time in his career.

Florida captured a national title for the first time in 22 years last week as the Gators swept NCAA's with Fred Biondi winning the NCAA Individual Championship. It was the third UF golfer (Nick Gilliam 2001, Bob Murphy 1966) to achieve the honor and second time in 30 years the program swept both titles. Florida is one of seven schools to achieve the mark twice.

He helped lead the Gators to its fifth National Championship in program history and first in 22 years last week as Florida also swept NCAA's with Fred Biondi winning the individual title. It was the third UF golfer (Nick Gilliam 2001, Bob Murphy 1966) to achieve the honor and second time in 30 years the program swept both titles. Florida is one of seven schools to achieve the mark twice.

UF reached match play at nationals for the first time in program history and its best finish in the match play era (2009) last year in 10th. Florida played in the fourth round of stroke play for the fifth time in program history and second with Hart. It was also the second consecutive season to clinch a spot in the final 18.

Florida finished stroke play in 2nd with a score of 118 (-2), its lowest all-time at Grayhawk and first under par team score at the NCAA's since 2006. The 118 was the lowest round score at the National Championships in program history. A final round of 279 (-1) marks the third consecutive under round after back-to-back 2-under 278s in round two and three. The -2 performance by UF is the best round at the NCAA Championships since the opening round in 2007.

Hart helped guide Florida to its 16th SEC Championship and first in 12 years. The Gators got revenge in a rematch and defeat of No. 1 Vanderbilt 3-1-1 at Sea Island. The conference championship was Hart's second overall as he won one in 1989 as a player.

The Gators won the NCAA team and individual title and conference title in the same season for the first time in program history.

Florida claimed six team titles and six individual titles this season. The six team wins was the most since seven in 2003-04 as it was the sixth time the Gators have won at least six events in a season. The six medalist honors tied the program record in a season and only the third time in Florida history, the others were in 1989-90 when Hart was on the team and in 2010-11.

Prior to the postseason, the Orange and Blue won four regular season tournaments, including the season opener and finale. At the Augusta Haskins Award Invite, Florida finished 39-under par, to tie second all-time in program history by par and only three shots away from the record (-42).

At the VyStar Credit Union Gators Invitational, Florida won its home star for the fourth straight year and the 29th time overall in the tournament's 46th occurrence.

Hart saw four golfers (Fred Biondi, Ricky Castillo, John DuBois and Yuxin Lin) all earn PING All-American honors, tied for the most selections by a school this year and tied the Florida record. It was the seventh time the Gators had four selections with the last time being in 2006. Biondi, Castillo, Lin and Quentin Debove were also selected to the PING All-Region Team. The trio of Biondi, Castillo and Lin collected All-SEC honors with Matthew Kress collecting freshman team recognition.

Success was also obtained off the course with Fred Biondi, Quentin Debove and John DuBois being named GCCA All-American Scholars, which marked the back-to-back years with multiple honorees and most selections in a single season in program history.

Dudley Hart was named the next assistant coach for the Gators on September 15, 2021.

After a bumpy fall in the 2021-22 season, Hart got the Gators regrouped for a dominant spring. The second half of the season started on a strong note with winning back-to-back tournaments victories at the Sea Best Invitational and the VyStar Gators Invitational. The victory at Sea Best marked the fifth time in the spring opener and third time under Deacon.

At the Gator, Florida won the 45th annual event for the 28th time in program history. The Gators shot 28-under (812) to win by 12 strokes over No. 3 Oklahoma State. Fred Biondi finished 14-under at 196 to tie the tournament record while he claimed his first collegiate medalist honor. The record was last set by Camilo Benedetti in 2001 as he tied for second in tournament scores and tied third all-time in tournament score by par in three rounds. A native of Sao Paulo, Brazil, he set career bests in low round (63), tournament score and finish on the weekend. Biondi became the 16th UF golfer to be the individual champion at the invite as his birdie on 18th concluded the career outing and brought the crowd at Mark Bostick to their feet.

Biondi's first collegiate victory turned into a breakout season as he won his second tournament at the Calusa Cup along with

At the 2022 SEC Championships, another Gator won his first collegiate title with John DuBois being crowned the individual champion. He became the 25th Gator in program history to win the title, the most by any SEC School. He joins the list of names such as Tommy Aaron, Steve Melnyk, Brian Gay, Camilo Benedetti, and volunteer assistant coach Billy Horschel. It marks the third UF golfer to win in the last five tournaments: Alejandro Tosti (2017) and Andy Zhang (2018).

The Gators advanced to the SEC match play finals for the first time since the format was added in 2017. UF knocked off No. 6 Georgia (3-1-1) in the quarterfinals and No. 2 Texas A&M (3-1-1) in the semifinals. Florida finished runner-up for the 13th time in program history and first since 2010.

UF took care of business at the NCAA Palm Beach Regional with 3rd place performance, advancing to its 55th NCAA Championship. At Grayhawk and the NCAA Championships, the Gators rallied in round three on the back nine to make the top-15 cut. In his senior season (1989-1990), Florida was just two strokes away from claiming the National Championship, falling to an Arizona State team led by Phil Mickelson.

Hart went on to have a decorated professional career which included two PGA Tour victories at the 1996 RBC Canadian Open and the 2000 Honda Classic.

That year, he would rise to 21st in the World Rankings, his highest ranking on the Tour.

GATORS AT THE NCAA REGIONAL CHAMPIONSHIPS

Since 1989, to qualify for the NCAA Championships one must be one of the top teams at the regional tournaments across the country. The University of Florida men's golf team has had great success at these events, qualifying for the NCAA Championships every year but two since regional play was introduced.

In the 27 years of regional play, Florida has won the team title five times. In addition, four Gators have claimed five medalist honors. Billy Horschel was the last to do so, winning his second regional title as a sophomore in 2007.

A fourth and final-round score of 2-under 69 by Richard Spears highlighted the Gators' upset of Houston for their first team title at the 71st Annual NCAA Championships. The two schools were tied after 54 holes and Houston held a one-stroke advantage after 63, but the 69th hole (a 525-yard, par five with a lake in front of the green) proved to be disastrous for the Cougars. Two Houston golfers bogeyed the hole, while Florida's Spears and Steve Melnyk recorded birdies to give the Gators a commanding lead that carried them to the victory stand.

Overcoming a two-shot deficit with two holes remaining, the Gators captured their third team title by one stroke at the 96th Annual NCAA Championships. UF, which shot a finalround 283 for a total of seven-under par 1,145, played par golf on the two most difficult holes on the course to grab the title. Georgia Tech finished runner-up with a six-under 1,146 and North Carolina placed third at 1,147. The one-stroke victory was the closest margin in the NCAA Championships since 1984. Individually, junior Guy Hill was the Gators' top finisher, firing a final-round 69 (-3) to finish in a four-way tie for third with a tournament total of one-under par 287. Sophomore Chris Couch, who made a four-foot par putt on the 18th hole in the last round to clinch the team title, finished tied for seventh with an even-par 288. Sophomore Brad Lehmann fired a fourth-round 67, and junior Brian Gay tied for 19th, while senior John Pettit finished in a tie for 49th.

The Gators captured their fourth national title by firing a 13-under final round of 275 at the 2001 NCAA Championships hosted at Duke University Golf Course in Durham, N.C. Four Florida golfers turned in under-par rounds in the final 18 holes, including senior Nick Gilliam, whose final-round 71 gave him a total 186 and the individual medal. Gilliam became only the second Florida golfer to win the title, joining Bob Murphy, who took the crown in 1966. Florida's school-record total of 1,126 was 18 strokes better than runner-up Clemson, the third-largest margin of victory since the NCAA Championships moved to four-round play in 1968. The win completed an incredible turnaround after the Gators shot an opening-round 296 to put them in a 13th-place tie, 16 shots from the lead. Florida then shot 10-under 278 on the second day to move into second place and finished the third round at 11-under, 277, to pull into a first-place tie with Arizona heading in the final 18 holes. The Gators also featured one of the two golfers tied for the individual runner-up spot. Junior Camilo Benedetti shot a 9-under to finish at 279 to tie with Jamie Elson from Augusta State.

2023 NCAA Champions

May 26-31, 2023

Grayhawk Golf Club

Arizona State University

Scottsdale, Ariz.

Senior Fred Biondi, just three days removed from winning the NCAA individual title, provided the clinching point Wednesday night to secure the Florida Gators the team crown at the 2023 NCAA Championships at Grayhawk Golf Club. But Biondi, whose par on the 18th hole locked up the program's fifth national title, was quick to point out in the emotional post-match euphoria that the spotlight did not deserve to be on him. And everybody on hand soaked in the program's first title in 23 years, especially Coach J.C. Deacon, assistant and UF alum Dudley Hart and Biondi's four teammates, who collectively stared down yet another high-intensity match-play challenge — their third in two days — before finishing off a 3-1 victory over Georgia Tech. About an hour earlier, the fifth-seeded Yellow Jackets seemingly had command of their overall match against the No. 2 seed, leading three of the four individual matchups still in contention before the Gators made their move. It wasn't a comeback along the lines of Tuesday night's rally from a 2-0 deficit against Florida State in the semifinals, but it showed a lot of moxie. Senior Yuxin Lin posted Florida's first point with a par putt on No. 15 to finish a lopsided 4&3 victory against Cristo Lamprecht. At that point, however, Tech led one match by a stroke and the three other matches were tied. It wasn't that long before the Yellow Jackets seemingly grabbed momentum across the course, with leads in three of the four matches still out with the entire field through at least 12 holes.

Then things changed. The Jackets were poised to make it 1-1 when Bartley Forrester stood over a three-foot putt on 17 that would have closed his match against redshirt freshman walk-on Matt Kress, who lost the first hole of the day and played from behind their entire match. Forrester, though, watched his "gimme" do a U-turn and hop out, drawing Kress within a stroke with a hole to play. The mistake proved costly, as Kress hit a great drive and stuck his second shot at 18 to two feet for birdie. The win there tied their match and sent it to sudden death before eventually being decided on the 20th hole when Forrester made bogey and Kress, after duck-hooking a drive into the desert, made double. By then, though, Kress' teammates had seized control of the overall match. By taking Forrester into extras, Kress gave the Gators time to settle in. In the time Kress was rallying for extra golf, senior John DuBois tied his match with Connor Howe at No. 15 and eventually won it with a par at 18 to Howe's bogey to push the Gators to a 2-1 advantage. By then, both Biondi, teeing off at 18, and Ricky Castillo, at 17, had surged to 1-up leads in their individual matches, with the Gators needing only one of them to close out to clinch. Biondi, from São Paulo, Brazil, hit a great tee shot, followed by a solid approach to the front of the green, then and lagged his putt to within two feet. It was close enough that Tech's Hiroshi Tai, already lying four, conceded to give Biondi the hole and the Gators the NCAA championship. Indeed, it was a fitting finish for the talented senior quartet of Biondi, Castillo and DuBois, along with Lin, the transfer from USC, who together grew not only as golfers but teammates with a purpose they put before their individual achievements.

UF golfer Luke Poulter eager to display family's flair for match play at esteemed Walker Cup

GAINESVILLE — UF golfer Luke Poulter has match play in his DNA and the British Isles in his blood.

The combination earned him a spot in this weekend's 50th Walker Cup, amateur golf's ultimate team competition.

Poulter grew up in Lake Nona, the son of Ryder Cup stalwart Ian Poulter of England — where Luke was born, lived until he was 4 and visits every summer. The 21-year-old showed up this week at the storied Cypress Point Club with his accent fully intact, his golf game trending and his mind set to help the Great Britain-Ireland side shock a stacked U.S. squad.

“That’s how it should be. It’ll feel normal,” he recently told the Orlando Sentinel. “Home, I would technically class is here, but my heart’s in England.”

Luke Poulter has developed a game that travels during the past year after he returned from a back injury sidelining him for seven months.

“What he’s accomplished in the past year is monumental,” Gators coach JC Deacon told the Sentinel Thursday. “He had faith in himself and faith in his game and a belief that it was all gonna work out. He’s busted his ass, and he’s reaping the rewards.

A spot with the GB&I squad at the Walker Cup became inevitable as Poulter rose to No. 27 in the World Amateur Golf Ranking.

Among the highlights of the spring was his first collegiate win in March during the Schenkel Invitational and a fourth-place showing at the NCAA Bremerton Regional west of Seattle.

Stealing a page from his father’s playbook, Poulter also showed him match-play bonafides going 3-0 during the Gators’ SEC Championship win, the second in three years for Deacon’s program.

“He prides himself on kind of the family’s lineage of match play success,” Deacon said. “Luke might have a little gift, like his old man in match play.”

Few have been better in the format than Ian Poulter, a thorn in the U.S. team’s side and a stellar 6-0-1 in singles matches (15-8-2 overall) during the Ryder Cup.

“He’s got that fight in him,” his son said.

The elder Poulter, now 49, displayed his determination every step of the way. The native of Hitchin, a London suburb, was just 4-handicap who obtained a PGA certification before he eventually earned his card at European Tour qualifying school.

He would go on to win 12 times in Europe, three times on the PGA Tour and four times on Asian and Australasian tours.

Poulter’s golf journey has been smoother, given dad’s resources and connections, yet has featured its share of obstacles.

This time last year, he faced an uncertain future because of a back injury. But he returned to train harder, practice smarter and perform better than ever.

This weekend, Poulter hoped the best was yet to come.

The GB&I team is a decided underdog against a US side with the top six amateurs, led by Auburn’s Jackson Koivun.

At No. 10, England’s Tyler Weaver, the 2024 ACC Freshman of the Year at Florida State, leads the way, followed by Northwestern’s Cameron Adam, at No. 17, Poulter and England’s Dominic Clemons (No. 35).

“Our team on paper isn’t as good as the U.S.” Poulter said. “But I feel we’re all very much as good as them.”

No one was better than Poulter leading up to the matches.

During Thursday’s practice round, he holed out for eagle on No 1, a short par-4 331-yarder. He then made a hole-in-one on No. 3, a 149-yard par-3.

“Crazy start to his week,” Deacon said.

With family, including his grandfather in from England, and friends looking on, Poulter was ready to enter the match-play cauldron.

“I just love it. It’s super fun,” he said. “Just that head-to-head battle is great.”

UF coach JC Deacon stunned by third Florida Open win: ‘I shocked myself’

By: Edgar Thompson

Orlando Sentinel

July 21, 2025

GAINESVILLE — A day after UF coach JC Deacon’s latest Florida Open win, he still wondered how he’d done it — even though he had twice before.

“I don’t know where that came from,” he told The Orlando Sentinel Monday. “I shocked myself to be totally honest.”

In becoming just the third three-time Florida Open champion and the first since Don Bisplinghoff in 1962, Deacon birdied the first sudden-death hole to beat former Gator Joe Pagdin — the 2021 SEC Freshman of the Year who grew up in Orlando and finished his college career in 2024.

Deacon’s dedication to players like Padgin has helped UF’s longtime coach perform a rare and rewarding second act, culminating with a final-round 5-under par 67 Sunday at Quail West Country Club in Naples for a 16-under 200 total over 54 holes.

To play elite golf at the right time, Deacon recently unlocked a swing key while working on techniques he might be able to impart to his players.

“I’m always thinking about my guys and what can help them get better, and trying to learn,” he said. “I’ve been experimenting on myself and found some things — and obviously was able to put it into play and play pretty good.”

Deacon explained his swing path had become too shallow, so he steepened it slightly and began to bottom out the club ahead of the golf ball.

“It started feeling really good with my chipping. So I’m like, why don’t I try this with my full iron shots,” he recalled. “I was like, whoa, there’s a big difference. It just kind of went from there.”

En route to victories at the 2017 and 2020 Florida Opens, an appearance in the 2019 Canadian Open and a pair of record-setting 10-under 60s at UF’s Mark Bostick Golf Course in 2015 and 2017, Deacon tapped into another level of golf he had pursued since he was young a player growing up in Toronto.

Sunday’s victory continued a career renaissance at age 42.

“I was talking to my dad and brother yesterday,” Deacon recalled. “I put so much time in as a kid, 10 hours a day, 12 hours a day, every day. I feel like I’m just now, the last 10 years enjoying the benefits of that. Crazy game golf is. You never know when you’re going to play your best.

“I’m thankful to get that win, because I really do understand how hard it is to win.”

Sunday was no different.

Deacon began the day two shots behind former UCF star Brad Schneider, but eagled the opening hole. Following a double-bogey 6 at the short par-4 No. 8, Deacon birdied four of his next seven holes.

For a chance to beat Pagdin in a playoff, Deacon needed to birdie the par-5 18th.

Facing a difficult tee shot to a narrow fairway on the 576-yard closing hole, Deacon said he “smartened up” and opted for a 2-iron over his driver. He then hit another 2-iron to 116 yards, followed by “the best wedge shot I hit all week” to inside 2 feet.

“That was clutch,” he said.

Missing out on the playoff were a number of highly accomplished players, including former PGA Tour pro Justin Hicks, who tied for fourth South Florida PGA Hall of Fame member Alan Morin, who tied for ninth. Ocala native Ted Potter Jr., a former winner on Tour, placed 18th.

AJ Crouch, who finished third, was the only tournament winner on Deacon’s first UF squad in 2014-15 and also played the following season for the Gators.

“A lot of good players,” Deacon said of the field.

The victory further cemented Deacon’s place in the annals of a storied event that began in 1906 and was played for the 79th time this past weekend. Bisplinghoff and eight-time winner Pete Cooper are the only golfers with as many victories.

The illustrious list of winners includes former Gators and future PGA Tour winners Bob Murphy, Gary Koch and Dudley Hart, who is currently Deacon’s assistant coach. Other Florida Open winners include World Golf Hall of Fame members Jim Barnes, who won in 1921, Leo Diegel (1925), Johnny Farrell (1926) and 1929 winner Horton Smith, who won the first Masters Tournament in 1934.

Seven-time Tour winner Gardner Dickinson won the 1952 Florida Open. In the modern era, future Tour winners Bruce Fleisher (1980, 1987), Donnie Hammond (1982), John Huston (1985), and Bart Bryant (1994) captured the event.

“It’s humbling to look at those names,” Deacon, a native of Toronto, said. “A lot of Gators on there, which I’m really, really proud of. Florida’s been one of the best states for for golfers forever, and to be a champion three times is really an honor, and something I’m very proud of.”

The victory earned Deacon $20,000, along with continuing credibility with his players and potential recruits.

“Hopefully we get some guys who want to come play for for two guys (including Hart) who can still get it done,” said Deacon, who has shot in the 60s in all nine rounds of his Florida Open wins.

On the way to his latest victory, Deacon also gained further respect for his players and their process.

“I really appreciate being able to be in their shoes, even if it’s only for one week,” he said. “There’s so much that goes into playing tournament golf, and it’s always a good reminder for me. When you’re coaching, you’re watching all the time and it just seems easy from the outside.

UF golfer Zach Swanwick a Kiwi making his mark with Gators

By: Edgar Thompson

Orlando Sentinel

May 23, 2025

GAINESVILLE — More than 8,000 miles and 17 time zones from his New Zealand home, Florida golfer Zach Swanwick always had golf to keep him company.

On those days when homesickness set in, Swanwick headed to the practice range and became consumed in the never-ending process to fine-tune his game and to prove he belonged.

“Whenever you feel down, you always have golf to come out here and either humble you or make you happy,” he said recently at Mark Bostick Golf Course.

Swanwick had more good days than bad ones on and off the course as he adjusted to American college life and pushed his way into the starting lineup.

He entered NCAA Championships on Friday as one of the nation’s top true freshmen and a potential star for JC Deacon’s Gators, the nation’s No. 7 team seeking the program’s second national title in three years.

Elite ball striking ability and a mental edge developed as a youth on the rugby pitch competing in his national sport make Swanwick particularly formidable in championship match play — he was 3-0 during the Gators’ surprising SEC Championship run.

The 18-year-old also is just tapping his considerable potential.

“He hasn’t played a lot of golf here,” Deacon said. “He has a chance to be player of the year one day.”

Swanwick almost missed his opportunity to make his mark in Gainesville.

When the recruiting contact period began June 15, 2022 after his sophomore year at Taradale High School, Swanwick reached out to Deacon using WhatsApp — a text messaging platform with an international reach not as commonly used in the U.S.

“I’m texting a million people, I’m getting a million texts, and I missed it,” Deacon said. “I just flat missed it.”

Deacon didn’t whiff on his second chance four months later, sitting at his desk scrolling through his iPhone, upset a top recruiting target had signed elsewhere.

“I remember I was pissed off, depressed and I was going through my phone and saw his message,” he said.

After a quick Internet search, Florida’s coach liked what he saw, contacted Swanwick and booked a January plane flight to watch him perform.

Yet, more obstacles remained.

Deacon failed to fill out the proper customs paperwork to delay his trip Down Under three weeks — and right on the heels of the devastating Cyclone Gabrielle. The storm had just devastated New Zealand's North Island, including Hawke's Bay, where the Swanwicks reside.

Zack, his father Vinny and mother Toni were able to escape town just in time to reach a tournament a few hours north.

"We got over a bridge before it was shut off and were able to catch a plane," Swanwick recalled.

His golf clubs, though, didn't make it. A mud slide had buried them at the local golf course where Swanwick stored them.

"That was the moment I fell in love with his family," Deacon said. "His dad said, right there in the car, I'd met him 10 minutes before ... he goes, 'No excuse, mate. He's gonna find a way to play great.'"

Swanwick exceeded expectations by executing a shot his future coach vividly remembers.

Playing with a borrowed set of clubs, he striped a 2-iron — an unforgiving club few players even carry given today's technology — from a downhill lie to reach a par-5 in two shots.

"It just went so high, with this little baby cut, to 15 or 20 feet — he just flushed it," Deacon, a two-time Florida Open winner, marveled. "I texted (associate coach) Dudley (Hart) and said, 'We got our guy.'"

Swanwick will take Deacon's word for it.

He cannot fully recall the day's details, considering the trying circumstances caused by Gabrielle and his life-changing decision to join the Gators.

Swanwick soon left behind a home located by a bay fed by the Pacific Ocean and a life filled with hunting, fishing and visits to his grandfather's livestock farm. Mountain lakes and volcanoes are a day trip away.

"We're in a good little spot where you can see whatever you want really," he said.

Swanwick's sacrifice has put him in a favorable position to fulfill his dream to play professionally.

Deacon's program has produced PGA Tour pros Ricky Castillo and Alejandro Tosti and has current players, Ian Gilligan, Jack Turner and Luke Poulter, with a chance to get there.

"This is one of the things you have to deal with," Vinny Swanwick said. "He misses his mum's cooking probably the most. But this is what you have to do if you want to do what you want to do."

Even so, SEC country was at first overwhelming for Zack Swanwick.

"My first few football games, I was like, 'Holy crap, where am I?'" he said.

Swanwick quickly found a rhythm and routine with his hard-working teammates and his golf game steadily improved, landing him a spot on the SEC's All-Freshman team.

“Seeing the guys wake up early, going into the weight room and then out here all day practicing, you gain a lot of respect,” he said. “That friendship builds a little bit stronger. You’re going to have some good times, you’re going to have some bad times.

“But they always outweigh each other.”

Swanwick misses his New Zealand home, but a three-week Christmas visit gave him a much-needed taste of the outdoors and his mum’s cooking. Every evening or two from the States, he speaks to his parents or sister Taylor and shares the experiences of a Kiwi turned Gator.

“The world’s a small place now, with social media, and you can get on the phone and call someone — it’s pretty easy,” Vinny Swanwick said. “We miss him, but we know he’s in a good place.”

‘Fear of failure’ drives JC Deacon to championship success with Gators

By: Edgar Thompson

Orlando Sentinel

May 3, 2025

GAINESVILLE — For a guy who keeps score for a living, Florida golf coach JC Deacon didn’t have to check the leaderboard to know he was behind.

But after years of falling short at a school where championships are the standard, Deacon’s Gators are on a run that has put them in the mix with the top programs on campus.

UF’s SEC championship on April 27 was its second in three years, continuing a level of success the 41-year-old Deacon didn’t quite comprehend.

Since 2022, the Gators have won 18 tournaments, highlighted by the 2023 national and SEC titles, and captured 13 individual titles.

“Those numbers are staggering; that’s crazy to hear that,” Deacon told the Orlando Sentinel on Thursday. “You keep pushing forward and trying to be great. But that four-year run is what I always dreamed of for this program to be.”

Deacon experienced his share of sleepless nights to get here.

“I have a huge fear of failure,” he said. “I always have.”

The winning culture in Gainesville intensified the angst.

UF hired Deacon in June 2014 on the heels of national title runs in Gators softball and gymnastics, who would each repeat in 2015, along with a Final Four appearance in men’s basketball.

The Toronto native and former UNLV standout soon witnessed baseball, track and field, and women’s tennis win national championships along with volleyball reaching the Final Four. In 2021, men’s tennis won a national title while men’s golf still had yet to reach the NCAA’s eight-team final instituted in 2009.

“It’s relentless success,” Deacon said. “That’s how I always wanted my team to be looked at. That’s how it should be, but it takes a lot.”

At Florida, much is expected.

Disappointment and occasional grouching among members became a rite of spring at Mark Bostick Golf Course, the home to four national and 15 SEC champions prior to Deacon’s hiring. Even a 2017 season full of promise, with three wins and a No. 2 ranking entering February, ran out of steam by the postseason.

“I signed up for that,” Deacon said. “When I took this job, I knew that if you weren’t a top-10 team and you weren’t competing for championships, you were going to be looked at as not getting the job done.”

Deacon’s fortunes slowly began to turn after his program bottomed out in 2019, failing to reach SEC match play or advance out of the NCAA Regionals.

“We weren’t in a great spot,” he said.

Ricky Castillo’s decision to leave Southern California for north Florida began a seismic shift.

Deacon had signed supremely talented players before, such as current professionals Alejandro Tosti and Sam Horsfield. But Castillo, the nation’s No. 1 recruit, coupled singular ability with accountability for all.

“He changed the expectations within the team without the coaches being around,” Deacon recalled. “He’s a winner. He expected to win, and he expected everyone else around him to do what was required to win.”

Castillo, now a PGA Tour rookie, was the linchpin of the ’23 title team.

The culture he helped create remains the same, if not better.

“This is the hardest-working team I’ve ever had, and the one in 2023 was really hard-working and loved the game,” Deacon said. “But these guys have taken it to another level.”

Deacon noticed something special when football Saturdays in Gainesville weren’t as festive, early-morning workouts were more energized and qualifying rounds were intensely competitive.

Due to the team’s depth, veteran Matthew Kress — the one holdover from the ’23 lineup — couldn’t crack the starting five in the fall. But a final-round 66 at February’s Gators Invitational began a steady resurgence this spring, culminating with a 5 & 4 win against Texas A&M’s Aaron Pound in the SEC title match.

The 22-year-old from northern California credits Deacon for the turnaround.

“He’s a huge conference-builder,” Kress said. “He’s never going to tell you have a long way to go. He makes you think you’re centimeter away, even if you might not be. I haven’t had the greatest of seasons, but he’s like, ‘You’re right around the corner. Great golf is coming.’ I’m like, ‘Dude, I just finished like 50th, three tournaments in a row. What are you talking about?’

“And then I come back in the spring and I play pretty good.”

Deacon, who made had a six-year go in his 20s as a professional, can relate to golf’s struggle as both player and coach.

He is also quick to share credit, be it with strength coach Markus Fürst or associate head coach Dudley Hart. Deacon calls the four-time All-American at UF, who arrived in 2023, “a godsend.”

Watching his players celebrate an SEC title last Sunday at Sea Island in St. Simons Island, Ga., Deacon felt increasingly blessed.

“Just sitting back with my wife on Sunday and watching them celebrate. and knowing how big of an accomplishment this was for them, and what it’s going to mean to them down the road, that’s like a feeling you can’t even describe,” he said. “Money cannot buy that — and that’s pretty cool.”

After serious back injury, Luke Poulter enjoying role as Florida's 'secret weapon'

By: Brentley Romine

Golf Channel

Feb. 18, 2025

GAINESVILLE, Fla. – There are moments in every golfer's career that alter its trajectory. For Luke Poulter, he'll always remember his first qualifier as a Florida Gator.

The son of a Ryder Cup legend, though still very raw in a competitive sense, Poulter was in position to crack a star-studded starting lineup for the Olympia Fields/Fighting Illini Invitational, a perennial circle on college golf's calendar. All that stood between the freshman and his college debut was, in Poulter's words, "the easiest chip of my life. Just off the front of the 18th green at Florida's home club, Mark Bostick Golf Course, Poulter needed to get up and down for par to earn the fifth and final spot. But as he stepped into the shot and set his club behind the ball, the ball rolled back a few inches. Immediately, Poulter called over Gators head coach J.C. Deacon; the one-shot penalty would cost Poulter dearly.

Poulter didn't qualify that day three falls ago – or for the rest of that season. He'd end up redshirting, relegated to the sidelines as Florida, led by its All-American triumvirate of Ricky Castillo, Fred Biondi and Yuxin Lin, orchestrated a run to another NCAA team title, its first in 22 years.

But as Deacon states, looking back, "That was honestly the best thing for him."

"Who knows what would've happened if I'd qualified for Olympia Fields," Poulter adds. "I might not be here right now playing the way I am."

Poulter, now a 20-year-old sophomore, is arguably playing the best golf of his life. Out seven months with a back injury, Poulter returned this spring to win each of Florida's first two qualifiers, including the most recent, for the Gators' home tournament, by six shots. Bouncing back from a T-31 at the Southwestern Invitational in Thousand Oaks, California, Poulter equaled his best college finish by tying for sixth in front of a partisan crowd at the Gator Invitational, which the hosts won for a sixth straight year while Poulter's teammate, senior Ian Gilligan, picked up medalist honors.

Poulter punctuated his performance with a clutch par on the last, the same hole where he'd been penalized as a true freshman. From 227 yards out, he carved a 5-iron into the green and calmly two-putted to help Florida narrowly hold off runner-up Oklahoma State, by a single shot.

"He's just mentally there," Deacon said afterward, "which is such a big deal in golf, and he knows he's really good. He's got the swagger, and we need that."

Like father, like son.

Ian Poulter won 13 times between the DP World Tour and PGA Tour before departing for LIV Golf a few years back, but the elder Poulter is defined by his heroics in the Ryder Cup, where he's accumulated 16 points, including a career-best four during the thrilling 2012 edition at Medinah, and been a part of five victorious European teams. There is a photo of Luke, Ian's eldest son, as a baby sleeping next to the 2004 Ryder Cup on the plane back from Detroit. But Luke didn't play golf competitively until high school, a byproduct of Ian's busy schedule and mom Katie having three other kids to also raise. It was a start in the game not unlike his dad's; Ian famously worked as a club pro at England's Chesfield Downs before turning pro at age 19 as a 4-handicap because he couldn't afford to play tournaments.

Eventually, the Poulterers hired a full-time coach to accompany Luke to junior events, and a couple years after that, Luke, nearly inside the top 100 of the AJGA rankings at the time, was signing with the Gators over the likes of Oklahoma State and Texas.

“People would ask me why I didn’t want to go to a smaller school and play more,” said Luke Poulter, who was also named the Orlando Sentinel’s area player of the year in 2021. “But I knew the best in the world were here [at Florida], so I wanted to surround myself with the best, so they could push me to get better.”

Added Deacon: “The thing that I’ve always admired about Luke is he believes he belongs, and he believes he’s one of the best players, and that has never, ever wavered.”

While redshirting, Poulter won the 2022 Willow Cup, an amateur tournament that featured several accomplished college players. He then logged 10 starts last season, six in the starting lineup, and racked up six top-16 finishes.

“He was arguably our best player that fall,” Deacon said.

Yet, by the SEC Championship, Poulter was back on the bench, only accompanying the team to Sea Island as the substitute. He didn’t see any action at conference, and that next week, while qualifying for NCAA regionals, he teed it up in a U.S. Open local qualifier; he only made it through four holes before his lower back gave out. Doctors diagnosed Poulter with a stress fracture in his right L4 vertebrae and a stress reaction on the left side. He spent much of the next seven months at the family’s home in England, not touching a golf club and bored as hell.

“I was really worried about that,” Deacon said. “Someone who’s so busy and so active not having anything to do, but he got through it. He just always saw the brighter picture at the end of the tunnel. And he’s come back with a better attitude; we call him Happy Luke. He’s maybe enjoying it a little more than he used to.”

Ian Poulter earned over $28 million on the PGA Tour – and that was before he signed a lucrative deal with LIV, where he’s added another $9 million and change just in prize money. But Deacon is quick to point out that Luke is far from entitled. “I’ve never made it easy on Luke Poulter here,” Deacon said, “and he’s earned everything he’s received.” Not that Luke had been unique from other young college players who are constantly frustrated by the fool’s errand that is the quest for perfection in this game.

Now more than ever, Luke knows how lucky he is; as Ian recently told his son, he’s set for life.

“I don’t really need golf, and golf doesn’t really need me,” Luke said. “So, he’s just told me to go have fun. There’s no point getting angry with it, just go enjoy it.”

Attitude isn’t the only marked improvement by the young Poulter.

“I’m driving it the best I’ve ever driven it,” he said.

Poulter switched to a cut upon returning from injury, a move that’s not only alleviated some pressure on his back but tightened his dispersion. Though some rust contributed to Poulter’s average showing at Pepperdine’s event to start the spring, Deacon walked 36 holes with Poulter that tournament and was floored by what he saw.

“I know [Gators assistant] Dudley [Hart, a two-time PGA Tour winner] gives me a hard time because I exaggerate sometimes,” Deacon said, “but the ball-striking was pure, like as good as anyone. He was striping it.”

Added the elder Poulter, who posted to Instagram after Luke won his second straight qualifier: “He has rebuilt himself and come back even stronger. Showing himself he has what it takes.”

It’s perfect timing for the Gators, ranked No. 13 in the country prior to their home triumph. Though strong at the top with Gilligan and sophomore Jack Turner, Deacon desperately needed some others to step up out of a group that he calls “the best nine in the country.” He always had a feeling Poulter could be one of those guys.

“I kept calling him our secret weapon,” Deacon said of Poulter. “We underachieved a little bit in the fall, but I knew we had this secret weapon waiting and getting stronger.

“And we’ve unleashed him now.”

Parker Bell and Jack Turner's chemistry elevates Florida men's golf

In May, the Florida men's golf team held fifth place at the West Lafayette regional after two rounds of play, almost qualifying for a spot in the national championship. With the team's postseason hopes on the line in the third and final round of the tournament, All-SEC freshman Jack Turner and sophomore Parker Bell knew they had to be at their best.

"I just knew that [Turner] was going to put together a good round," Bell said. "I remember he [said] to be fearless and trust in the training you've done to get to this moment."

The pair played fearlessly as Turner carded 3-under 69 in the final round while Bell parred and secured a top-10 individual finish on the leaderboard at 4-under 212. Florida placed third in the regional and advanced to its fourth-straight national championship behind Turner and Bell's strong performances.

The duo's success in the NCAA regional is one example of how Turner and Bell rely on each other. Their friendship, which developed in the fall when Turner arrived at UF, propelled them to new heights.

According to Bell, his first competitive encounter with Turner was at the first starting qualifier of the 2023-24 season when head coach J.C. Deacon pitted his golfers against each other to determine the starting lineup. Turner finished the qualifier in second place with a score of 20-under.

"I was like, 'Damn, this kid [Turner] can really play,'" Bell said. "We ended up playing a lot of rounds together in that qualifier because I ended up winning [it]."

Freshman Luke Poulter played a key role in bridging the gap between Turner and Bell. Poulter was Bell's roommate and Turner's close friend. The three of them would watch football and basketball together on weekends as a friendship blossomed between Turner and Bell.

"We have very similar mindsets and we're both super competitive," Bell said. "I've never been one to accept just being average."

Competition is a huge element for both golfers when teeing off against their foes and among themselves. The teammates constantly try to outperform one another and elevate their game.

Bell lived out his lifelong dream in the 2024 U.S. Open in June when he holed the first birdie of the tournament and earned an even-par 70 in round two.

Turner was inspired by Bell's performance on one of the biggest stages the sport of golf has to offer.

"I know I'm just as good as him... so I'm obviously hoping to [one day make it to that stage] myself," Turner said.

Turner and Bell's skills peaked in the spring as they won starting qualifiers and achieved excellent results at various tournaments. Some of their best performances included Turner's third place finish at the Calusa Cup in April and Bell's second place finish at the Schenkel Invitational in March.

“We love to work hard and joke around,” Turner said. “In the [spring], we started traveling a lot together and we’d always room at all of the tournaments.”

Competitiveness isn’t the only notable trait of an outstanding collegiate golfer. Having a lighthearted attitude is just as important as being focused on the serious elements of the game. Being too tense can lead to avoidable errors and cost the team invaluable opportunities.

While on the road, Turner and Bell create a quality team dynamic. They often make jokes and keep the squad relaxed, which balances perfectly with their focus on the course, said head coach J.C. Deacon.

“Jack and Parker together are hilarious,” Deacon said. “[Last year’s team] was probably the best culture we’ve ever had.”

The teammates will continue contributing to the program’s culture in preparation for more significant roles in 2024-25.

After completing productive campaigns in their freshman and sophomore seasons, Turner and Bell will be able to lead the team and guide incoming freshmen Parker Sands and Zack Swanwick.

“I’m super excited to see what’s in store for the team next year because I really think that... we’re only going to get [better],” Bell said.

After transformative sophomore season, Parker Bell heads to first U.S. Open

After watching the scoreboard in the closing stages of his round, Florida sophomore golfer Parker Bell knew he stood in a good spot to qualify for his maiden U.S. Open, but it almost came back to bite him.

As he prepared for his shot on the 16th tee box at the Dallas Athletic Club, Bell was well within the cutline of 3-under and was 5-under on the day. He knew all he had to do to secure his spot in the U.S. Open was get into the clubhouse.

On the short par 3, Bell put his tee shot in the water, making a double bogey. All of a sudden, he was in danger of missing the cut, and one more mistake would drop him from the playoff and out of the open.

However, Bell kept his composure and held it together. He brought it home, getting up and down for par from about 80 yards out on his 36th hole of the day to advance into a playoff for the final qualifying positions.

“The old me probably would have spiraled out of control and thought the world had just ended and probably would not have made it,” Bell said. “It felt really good to come out on top because there's been a couple of tournaments this semester and moments when the stakes were the highest, [and] I didn't come through.”

At 20, Bell is set to join an exclusive list of Gators who played in the U.S. Open. Bell never foresaw this possibility for himself, especially not at such a young age.

Bell did a lot of work off the course to help the mental side of his golf game. In a sport where athletes never want to get too high or low, this narrative held true when he took on the final holes in his final qualifying round.

“I've been working with a mental coach the last couple of months,” Bell said. “He's kind of really got me focused on my target and what I'm trying to do with the golf ball and just saying that to myself in my head.”

In his final qualifying round, Bell battled against some of the toughest golfers in the event, including Masters champion Sergio Garcia and PGA Tour veterans like Joel Dahmen, Kevin Streelman and Abraham Ancer. On top of that, Bell was tasked with playing 36 holes in one day.

“When I looked at the field, I was like, gosh, this probably would have been the biggest tournament I've ever played in,” Bell said. “At the end of the day, they're human too. They put their shorts on one leg at a time, just like me.”

Bell wasn't phased. He beat Garcia in the playoff to solidify his spot.

In his two seasons at Florida, Bell attributes his player and personal development to the quality of golfers, coaches and people around him.

“When you're playing with guys that are better than you, it's gonna force you to get better,” Bell said.

Fifth-year Gator John DuBois saw Bell's game grow immensely since his initial arrival at UF.

“Parker has been playing really solid, and I love to beat Parker,” DuBois said. “We're close teammates... His development has come a long way. I caddied for him last summer for a couple of events, and we kinda joked about some of the things he did and where he was mentally.”

UF head coach J.C. Deacon witnessed Parker's progress the most in the last 12 months. Deacon spent nearly every round walking with the sophomore this season. He's proud of the golfer he became and how much his mental game improved as well.

Deacon is extremely proud of his progress and is even prouder that Bell can acknowledge his own growth. He said Bell's incredible work ethic on and off the course was paramount to his progress and led him to this moment.

“When it comes to Parker, you probably gotta go back to day one and his freshman year,” Deacon said. “He probably physically or mentally wasn't ready for this level. Parker was still very immature, and he just had so much to learn... He got surrounded by some great teammates and some guys who pushed him really hard, and Parker has come so far.”

One year ago, Bell made a deep run into the U.S. Amateur Championship and fell just short, losing in the semifinals. Getting the taste of almost playing his way into the U.S. Open was the fuel he needed to grow in the game of golf.

With his first trip to Pinehurst approaching, Bell can't wait to soak it all in and live out his dream with his cousin and long-time caddie right by his side.

“As a kid, you dream about playing in the Masters and in the U.S. Open,” Bell said. “Those are probably the main two tournaments you dream of playing in, and I don't know if I ever would have thought I was going to do it at the age of 20.”

Bell will have quite the introduction to the historic Pinehurst No. 2, as his June 10 practice round will be played with world No. 1 and two-time major champion Scottie Scheffler.

“I still don't know if it's quite set in yet,” Bell said. “Maybe when I get there, I'll finally realize, damn, I actually made it here.”

For Dudley Hart, a Different Kind of 'Gap Year'

By: Chris Harry

May 3, 2024

GAINESVILLE, Fla. – Dudley Hart was a little hesitant to talk about it.

"I'm kind of superstitious," he said.

Hart, one of the greatest golfers in Florida history and now associate head coach of the Gators men's team, needed a 42 to meet one of his lifetime goals. A 42, you say? Hart, a three-time winner on the PGA Tour, probably hasn't shot a 42 on a back nine since he was a yay-high kid growing up in Rochester, N.Y.

Except this wasn't golf. Hart, who wrapped his UF Hall-of-Fame career way back in 1990, was back on the other side of the player-coach relationship earlier this week. Hart had just turned in a 28-page research paper that focused on the Erie Canal corridor and the effects the abolitionist movement had on the Northeast on the way to becoming an economic and industrial power. A couple of Hart's players showed him an app that helped compute what grade he needed to complete work on the history degree he fell several credits shy of when turning pro more after his decorated Gators career more than 30 years ago.

Forty-two.

Here's betting Hart, now 55, holes out what would appear to be a tap-in for the right to graduate from the school he loves.

"This isn't going to change my life's trajectory, not at my age, but it was something I preached to my kids – that they had to get a degree – or they would throw it in my face," Hart said. "Honestly, I'm one of those guys who's not great about starting something and not finishing it. I guess I just took a 35-year gap year."

Ask him and Hart will admit he wasn't a great student back in the day. His emphasis (and passion) was golf. His senior year, the Gators finished second in both the Southeastern Conference and NCAA Championships. Then he embarked on an 18-year PGA career that included 55 top-10 finishes and three tournament titles. Along the way, he was inducted into the UF Hall of Fame in 2003.

Chronic back trouble, however, plagued Hart over the final six years of his time on the tour. A series of surgeries and series of comeback attempts later, he walked away from his playing career and in 2017 came to UF as a volunteer assistant coach alongside JC Deacon. In 2021, Deacon promoted Hart to the full-time assistant's post, with the caveat – and promise made to Athletic Director Scott Stricklin – he would finish work toward his degree.

In the years since, Hart had a weighty hand in pushing the 2023 Gators to their epic national championship last June, with Hart being named Jan Strickland Outstanding Assistant Coach of the Year, an honor that goes annually to the nation's best assistant.

And, clearly, he didn't rest on the accomplishments of last season. Instead, Hart took on an entirely different challenge, with everyone inside the Mark Bostick clubhouse providing encouragement.

"As a coach, you're always trying to set an example for your players, so to finish something he had started – something really, really hard – and the manner he has gone about it and how much pride he's taken in his work and his grades, it's just been fantastic for him as a coach, a dad and a man," Deacon said. "It's hard. Honestly, I think there's probably some embarrassment and insecurity that comes with it – I mean, he's in classes with 20-somethings – but Dudley is a very driven individual. When he sets his mind to something he's going to do it."

Hart will not take part in the commencement ceremonies this weekend, but has a good reason for not take that walk; and it's got nothing that has to do with golf. Hart is the father of triplets and – get this – two of them are graduating from college this weekend, too.

Abby on Friday at Florida Gulf Coast. Rachel on Saturday at the University of Tampa.

Their brother, Ryan, just completed his fourth-year junior season on the UF golf team. He has another year of athletic eligibility.

Ryan will play it alongside his father, the graduate.

"It's not easy to come back. It can be nerve-racking after all those years, being out of practice ... especially not being the smartest guy in the room to begin with," Hart said. "That I was able to do this and still give our [players] every minute they needed, yeah, I'm proud of that."

Call it history (and a history major) in the making.

Kress Walking His Walk-on Talk

By: Chris Harry
Floridagators.com
May 5, 2023

GAINESVILLE, Fla. — The first time Florida coach J.C. Deacon saw Matthew Kress hit a golf ball in competition produced a moment both will never forget. And not in a good way.

Kress stepped up to the No. 1 tee box at Golden Ocala for his first round of fall season qualifying. The freshman walk-on from Saratoga, Calif., took his practice swings and a couple deep breaths before addressing the ball, then promptly yanked his first drive as a Gator dead left and into a row of pines.

"Literally, one of the worst shots I'd ever hit in my life," Kress said.

At that very instant, Deacon couldn't help but recall his initial reticence of taking on this west coast project, but masked those thoughts with a couple encouraging words directed toward his player, noting the ball had bounced off a tree and back into the fairway.

That's when he leaned over to UF assistant Dudley Hart with a whisper.

"My God, what have we done?" Deacon said. "This kid's got no chance."

One hundred and eight holes of robotic mechanics, very little touch, even less feel and six rounds of unimpressive scores later, Kress's first qualifying performance placed him at 13-over-par (and 37 strokes behind team leader Yuxin Lin).

No one would have blamed Deacon had he chose to file away his rookie as a bad decision. A mistake he would not make again. A lesson about trusting initial instincts. After all, it was Kress who first reached out with an interest of playing for the Gators. Deacon did his homework and saw nothing on Kress's junior or prep resume to suggest he could compete with the likes of Lin, Ricky Castillo, Fred Biondi and John DuBois, but the prospect was steadfast, passionate and, ultimately, convincing with his pitch and promise to be the hardest-working and most committed player in Deacon's program.

Deacon eventually relented, vowing to hold Kress to his word. That was two years ago.

Two weeks ago, Kress absolutely thrashed his match-play opponent from top-ranked Vanderbilt in the final round of the Southeastern Conference Championships at Sea Island. Kress was the first Gator to dispatch of his respective Commodores foe, then watched as his teammates took a 3-1-1 match victory that claimed Florida's first league title in 12 years.

"We don't win it without Matt Kress," Deacon said.

In two weeks, the No. 10 Gators will try to build on their conference conquest — and Deacon's first SEC title — when they head to NCAA Regionals at Eagle Eye Golf Club at Bath, Mich. UF will try to advance out of regional play and on to the NCAA Championships for the sixth time on Deacon's watch. The Gators have never reached the match-play format — and single-elimination quarterfinals — since the NCAA adopted match play in 2009.

"This team is a different. This team is more about playing for something a little bigger than ourselves," said Castillo, the senior and nation's 70th-ranked player. "We celebrated the SEC championship. It was great. Now, it's about the next challenge — regionals — and getting better every day."

Kress is a microcosm of that mindset.

HARDWOOD TO DOGWOOD

There's no mystery to where Kress got his work ethic. His father, David, started in the mailroom at Microsoft in 1987 and retired after three decades as senior business operations manager of worldwide enterprise marketing. David met his future wife during his time in Silicon Valley. Colette Kress is now executive vice president and CFO of Nvidia, one of the world's leaders in artificial intelligence, gaming and software.

"My parents are really high achievers in the business world," Kress said. "They made a name for themselves by working from the bottom to the top. They didn't talk a lot about that to me, but I watched and observed how they went about it. It taught me that if you're willing to work harder than most people, you'll rise. Sometimes it may happen slowly, but it'll happen."

For Kress and his older brother, David Jr., basketball and baseball were their sports of choice growing up, with an emphasis on the former. Matthew attended and played basketball at Bellarmine College Preparatory in San Jose, Calif., where he was a decent (not great) guard on a decent team. Golf, initially, was for weekend excursions with his dad and brother, but that all changed his freshman year when the Kress brothers made the varsity golf team. Matt decided that was his sport.

His passion, as it turned out.

Kress immersed himself in golf and found he loved the game, but his path — and goal of playing Division I — was not without roadblocks, including one very obvious one. His talent.

"I was like the 200th ranked golfer in California," Kress said.

And that was in 2020, which had some other significant drawbacks, especially for a golfer living in a lockdown state.

"He spent a long part of his time learning golf during COVID, but California had no tournaments," Colette Kress said. "We knew he wanted to play D-I golf and we told him we would support him as long as he gave his best effort, which he did. Honestly, though, I worried that his plan was not going to happen, given the environment. It was going to be tough."

Especially given that Kress wasn't exactly shooting for the bare minimum. There were plenty of colleges with golf teams in California, but Kress wanted more than just to check a tee box. Though he reached out to a handful of schools, Kress locked in on Oregon, Southern Methodist and, of course, Florida. He had the grades and test scores, but not the golf scores.

That was definitely Deacon's assessment when he first did his research on Kress after receiving a direct message via Instagram. In most cases, Kress's scores would have eliminated him from consideration right away, but Deacon was impressed with how well-written Kress's correspondences were. His persistence, also.

"The numbers to play at this level just weren't good enough," Deacon said.

Then came a phone call and recommendation from Jeff Smith, a Las Vegas-based swing coach considered one of the best in the world. Deacon was surprised Kress was one of Smith's clients.

Smith's assessment (paraphrased): "The numbers may not look good right now, but the kid will get straight A's and work harder than any player you've ever had. I know you've heard that before, but trust me."

Deacon went back to Kress with an offer to walk on at UF, but also with a warning that he was going to get his brains beat in daily by teammates, and cautioned that any lapses on the academic end would not be tolerated.

"I basically told him it's going to be the hardest thing you've ever done," Deacon said.

Kress was given a month to think about it. He called Deacon back the next day (6 a.m. PT on a Saturday morning) with his answer. He was in.

"People out there thought I was crazy," Kress said. "They were like, 'Gainesville? Do you know how hot and humid it is there? Do you know the players they have there? Do you know the scores you'll have to shoot there? You'll be sitting at home for the first three years and practicing alone before you even get a chance to play.' But it's what I wanted. I was betting on myself."

It was a winning bet. Deacon could not have imagined how much the Gators were destined to cash in.

PROMISE-KEEPER

On Aug. 21, 2021, Deacon and Kress met in person for the first time in the parking lot at Mark Bostick Golf Course. The infamous Ocala tee shot came eight days later.

As far as Kress's overall drive (the one down life's path, not a fairway), it was dead-solid-perfect from the start.

Matthew Kress

"I knew I had to make my work ethic evident from the beginning or I was going to be left behind," said Kress, now a redshirt freshman majoring in economics. "We already had a big roster with some great players and I had to add some kind of value; and not just in one area, but in the classroom, in the gym and, eventually, on the course. I never wanted JC thinking back and regretting his decision."

Along with the hard work, however, there needed to be a certain attitude in the face of adversity.

"Matthew took it on the chin early on, but we never talked about him being a walk-on. Why? All that would do is just change his demeanor," Colette Kress said. "There was definitely an awakening moment where it hit him, how hard it was going to be, but that just brought out his inner strength. When Matthew has something on his mind, something he has to do, he's going to get it done. It's funny. I think back to the beginning; I didn't know a lot about golf, but I knew Matthew."

His 2021-22 freshman season red-shirting included Academic All-SEC honors, but was mostly about development and growth. Physically, Kress got stronger and made huge gains in the weight room.

- * From three chin-ups to 15.
- * From 155 pounds to 235 on the bench press.
- * From 145 pounds to 305 on his back squat.

"He came in for extra lifts every single day outside of the team lifts — and still does," UF strength/conditioning coach Markus Fuerst said. "He has the best work ethic and discipline I've ever seen."

Those traits extended to the range, as well.

Matthew Kress went unbeaten in his three SEC Championship match-play rounds.

"He practices like a PGA Tour player back there," Castillo said. "That's what I think helps him keep calm on the golf course. He's done all he can do. He's put in the hours, so it's become all about being confident over every shot."

Last fall, he qualified for his first event, the Fighting Irish Classic, where he played as an individual, shot an impressive 6-under and placed 26th. In February, Kress cracked the team lineup for the first time, doing so for the Gators Invitational, though he didn't play particularly well. It cost him, at least temporarily.

When the team got on a plane to Las Vegas for its next tournament, Kress wasn't on it.

"There was no complaining. No 'poor me.' No 'coach sucks and doesn't like me.' Nothing like that," Deacon said. "He was going to make me play him. That's the chip on his shoulder that defines him. A lot of people his whole life have told him he's not good enough, including me. Well, I think I may have created a monster."

In a good way for the Gators, of course. Back in the lineup, Kress shot two rounds of 3-under 69 in the N.I.T at Tucson, Ariz., where he tied for 20th individually. At the Augusta (Ga.) Haskins Award Invitational he shot 1-under for the tournament, tied for 23rd and helped UF to its fifth team event title of the season.

But the SEC Championships were a different animal. Kress bounced back from a first-round 74 to shoot a career-best 67, followed by a 69 in Round 3 — finishing tied for 19th individually in stroke play — as the Gators qualified for the match-play championship format, starting with the quarterfinals against Ole Miss. They beat the Rebels 2&1, but Kress was not at his best and heard about it afterward.

"On the seventh hole, he had 25 feet and just needed to 2-putt for the hole, but got careless and 3-putted — and I ripped his ass," Deacon said. "I talked to him afterward and told me, 'I know how pissed you were and I'll never do that again.' Every time the stakes were really high and you thought he might break, he went the other way."

Did he ever. In the semifinals, Kress beat his Texas A&M foe 2-up, as the Gators defeated the Aggies 3-2 to reach the championship final against No. 1-ranked Vandy. On the 15th hole, Kress was shaking hands with Matthew Reidel after a 5&4 rout that gave UF an early lead and set in motion the tournament crown that was secured when DuBois knocked in a 15-foot to clinch his match (and the title) on No. 18.

An orange-and-blue hugfest ensued on the green, with Kress in the middle of it. His mother fought back the tears inside her sunglasses.

"You raise your children hoping for a moment like that," Colette Kress said.

Matthew Kress kept his promise.

To himself and the Gators.

"He's the least accomplished junior golfer I've ever taken," Deacon said. "And now he's a SEC champion."

That's a long way from that errant and ugly tee shot. Maybe, just maybe, the kid does have a chance.
